The Georgia Division, Sons of Confederate Veterans

Georgia Division Store

The Georgia Division, Sons of Confederate Veterans is proud to announce the opening of the Division’s on-line store. After the Confederate hysteria in 2015 when many of the major merchants exclaimed they will not be selling “Confederate” merchandise anymore, the Georgia Division made the decision to open an on-line store to make Confederate Flags and tags available to its membership and the public. Given the superior quality and historical accuracy of our Flags, we have the most competitive prices available than any other on-line store selling Flags. Our major objective is having the patriotic symbols of the Confederate Soldier available for all to proudly display. All profits from the sales go directly to cover the expenses of our Division office.

What makes our Flags unique from the rest?

Our supplier, Ron Moore of the Virginia Division, SCV and founder of Richmond Depot Flags, has been studying these historical flags for many years. Ron manufactured our flags based on real battle flags of the Army of Tennessee and the Army of Northern Virginia Battle Flags which makes our Flags authentic replications based on historical originals. Our Flags with these authentic designs are exclusively sold and distributed by the Sons of Confederate Veterans. Most unique are the various star patterns that represent true Confederate flags. Not only are our Flags historically accurate, but they are made with polyester material, heavy duty grommets and has (4) rows of stitching on the flag end for durability.

Commander's Report

Gentlemen,

I hope your 2020 is off to a good start. We have another decade before us, in 2000s our Georgia State Flag that honored Georgia's Confederate Veterans was stolen from Georgia by the "progressive" politicians, liberal establishment and the big business sell-outs. In the 2010s the same groups started their attacks on our Confederate monuments. We suffered major blows, losing monuments in cities in the States of Louisiana, Texas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Maryland and Tennessee. We have seen just how vicious the liberal media / establishment is toward our Confederate Heritage in their efforts of attempting to tie us in with acts of violence, like the Dylan Roof murders and the Charlottesville riots. Events that had absolutely no affiliation with the Sons of Confederate Veterans and our Confederate Heritage. It’s obvious that these attacks on our Confederate Heritage are only a prelude to a more sinister plan by the left to bring down our Constitutional Republic and destroy our American Heritage. 250,000 Confederate Soldiers made the ultimate sacrifice trying to prevent that which is happening today in our Country, the big government takeover in Washington, DC.

We have been very fortunate here in Georgia. The monuments that have been damaged or destroyed by these "cowards in the night" have been replaced and/or repaired. We have made some positive gains with our monument protection efforts. I'm cautiously optimistic for decade 2020, I believe the sentiment of the public is on our side on the most part, just motivating them to take a stand has always been the challenge for us. But, for us, the Sons of Confederate Veterans, we continue to be the last stand protecting the Confederate Soldiers good name. We must continue in our efforts, by staying active in the fight, maintaining and building our membership, and supporting and participating in our Heritage defense fights and efforts.

Good news from our Lobbyist Firm. Nearly 30 days in the 2020 legislative session and no anti-Southern legislation has been submitted. Hopefully we will have a quiet legislative session this year. Our Lobbyist firm has done an excellent job representing our interest.

I offer my heartfelt thanks to past 1st Brigade Commander and our facebook administrator Barry Colbaugh for accepting the position of our Division Webmaster. He was confirmed in by the Executive Council at the January 18 EC meeting in Irwinville. If he runs our webpage like he does the facebook account we will have an updated and well-done job.

I understand that a 527 Political Action Committee named the Veterans Memorial Coalition has been created by others. The Veterans Memorial Coalition supports candidates both State and National who support Veteran’s issues and monument protection. Those of us who want to make a difference in the political arena can contribute to this PAC without any concerns of the SCV 501c3 status.

We are still searching for a Georgia Division Office building to purchase, a location large enough to support office operations and a small museum. Locations we prefer are commercial property in the Macon/Forsyth/Barnesville area to keep the location in the central Georgia area close to I-75.

Our legal fights with the City of Alpharetta and Columbus are moving forward. See the January 18, 2020 Executive Council meeting minutes published in this issue of the Georgia Confederate for an up-date on those ongoing fights.

I was honored to be the guest speaker at the Lee/Jackson dinners for the Clement Evans Camp # 64 in Waycross and the General Joe Wheeler Camp #863 in Conyer. I was welcomed graciously by the Camps and their guests. It was good seeing the Clement Camp's 8ft X 8ft Battle Flag flying on the 60ft pole off Hwy 82 heading into Waycross. The Executive Council approved again this year to offer a $200 scholarship for the first 20 Campers for the Georgia Confederates Youth Camp being held in June 2020. The cost per Camper for a week of Confederate education and fun is $350, with the scholarship applied brings the cost for our young Campers to $150 per Camper. I would like to ask our Camps of the Georgia Division to please support the Georgia Confederates Youth Camp by sponsoring a Camper, either boy or girl for a week for some of the best historical programs and comrades at that they will ever experience. If you can't sponsor a Camper please consider sponsoring by donating to the Camp to help cover the cost of a Camper. Please contact our Division Lt. Commander South Al Perry for more details 912.585.9144.

In closing I regrettably inform you that our Editor of the Georgia Confederate Al Perry is ready to retire his duties as our Editor so he can focus primarily on building the Georgia Confederates Youth Camp, Editor Perry has served our Division faithfully for 5 years, bringing us an excellent newsletter every two months. I am very grateful for all his hard work and service over the years and will miss him as our Georgia Confederate Editor. If you're interested in the Georgia Confederate Editor position please contact Editor Perry at asp3@planttel.net or 912-585-9144.

At your Service,
Tim Pilgrim
Georgia Division Commander

"Stripped of all its covering, the naked question is, whether ours is a federal or consolidated government; a constitutional or absolute one; a government resting solidly on the basis of the sovereignty of the States, or on the unrestrained will of a majority; a form of government, as in all other unlimited ones, in which injustice, violence, and force must ultimately prevail."

Division Commanders Report: key points below.

Our Lobbyist firm is currently engaged at the State Capitol this 2020 legislative session. So far, no anti-Southern legislation has been submitted this session.

The creation of a 501c4 has been completed. The 501c4 allows unlimited lobbyist expenses and allows donations to be made to a 527 Political Action Committee (PAC). Commander Pilgrim also reported that a 527 PAC named the Veterans Memorial Coalition has been created by others, to support candidates both State and National who support Veteran’s issues and monuments.

We are still searching for a Georgia Division Office space. A location large enough, around 1500 sq. ft., to support office operations and a small museum. Locations we prefer are commercial property in the Forsyth/Barnesville area to keep the location in the central Georgia area close to I-75.

Legal Fights:
We are moving forward with the Alpharetta Old Soldiers Parade litigation with ongoing discovery questions, arguments in April and court projected in May. We will keep you updated as the litigation progresses.

The Division is supporting the Cotiss legal fight over the flying of the Confederate Battle flag by a Police Officer on their private property. Case is currently under US court of appeals.

Columbus Linwood Cemetery legal fight continues, case has been filed in the Muscogee County Superior Court.

New Business:
The Georgia Division webpage development is complete. We are now in the update phase to keep the website current as things change. We have solicited for a website/page manager and Barry Colbaugh has agreed to take the position. He has already begun getting an understanding of the webpage layout and making updates. This is a paid position; we have been paying $40 per hour during the development and Barry has agreed to manage the updates for $25 per hour.

Motion made by Commander Perry to appoint Barry Colbaugh as the Division webpage manager with an hourly fee of $25. Motion second provided and passed unanimously.

Commander Pilgrim discussed a proposed Division by-law change to provide more flexibility when negotiating Division Reunion venue contracts. The proposed change would change the “2nd Saturday in June” to read the “1st or 2nd Saturday in June” in Article VIII, Division Convention. A motion for the Executive Council to recommend this proposed by-law change to our Delegates at reunion made by Commander Crawford, second provided and motion passed unanimously.

Commander Pilgrim noted that the Florida Save the Monuments group had solicited Georgia Division for monetary support of $250 to assist in their lobbyist efforts. The support was discussed by the Executive Council and a motion was made to provide the $250. A second was provided and motion passed.

Commander Pilgrim noted he was contacted by National SCV for a Georgia Division Flag that will be displayed in the New SCV Museum in Elm Springs.

After a short discussion on the proposed adoption of the 1956 Georgia State Flag as the Georgia Division Flag with the addition of Georgia Division around the State Seal, a motion was made, seconded and passed to adopt the 1956 Georgia State Flag as the Georgia Division Flag. A new cotton flag will be embroidered and sent to SCV National for display in the Museum.

Stone Mountain:
Stone Mountain Confederate History month celebrations will be held on April 18th beginning at 12:00 in front of the Monument. Thanks to the negotiation team of Commander Pilgrim, Adjutant Richard Straut and Legal Counsel Martin O’Toole we have no restrictions on how we celebrate. We will have a PA system for the speakers and many cannons to announce our support for Confederate History month. Also, Thanks to the Stone Mountain Park Association for supporting our special event.

The memorial flag pole by the Confederate monument at the Fairburn City Cemetery has been removed by the City of Fairburn. Currently we are getting more information on this matter, but this may become another State Code violation of 50-1.3.

Next Executive Council meeting will be on June 6, 2020 after the Division Reunion.
Meeting concluded with Benediction by Commander Kim Beek.
Singing of Dixie to dismiss at 2:40.

To the Commander and EC members of the Georgia Division Sons of Confederate Veterans
6th Brigade Report

The 6th Brigade consists of 11 active camps. We also have two new Camps in the forming stage. The active Camps are listed below.
The Brigade Mourns the passing of our longtime member Com- patriot, James (Rooney) Kea. Camp 2164 Montgomery Sharpshooters, Mt Vernon Ga. Rooney was a former Lt Commander of the GA Division, Camp Commander and served his camp as Adjutant. He was an encyclopedia of Confederate History. He will be missed.

I would like to remark as member of the retention committee. Recruitment is no problem for our organization. Men want to join us. Our camp leadership has got to find ways to keep our members involved. Our division membership has stagnated at around three thousand members for many years. With all the recruitment we all have done we should be many thousands more than where we are.

Paul Harvey made thousands of radio recordings in which he would tell a story and then add, “the rest of the story.” For those of us in the history field, we know there is no such thing as “the rest of the story,” because there is always “more of the story.” With that in mind, this article gives “more of the story” of the Confederate monuments in Richmond and elsewhere.

In today’s public narrative on Confederate monuments, we commonly are told that the great majority of the monuments were erected between 1885 and 1925. Many say that this time period corresponds with the “Jim Crow Era” or the “Lost Cause Era,” either of which identify them as products of the white supremacy and black suppression of that time. As a result, the monuments have become testaments to racism and their subject matter is racist and is to be rejected by a modern, enlightened, and appropriately sensitive population. While those causes cannot be dismissed or discounted, they are not the whole story.

Historians of the era would also call it the “Memorial Period” because of all the statues, monuments, and memorials that were being erected all across the country – North and South, East and West, urban and rural. As Dr. Caroline Janney points out in her book, Remembering the Civil War: Reunion and the Limits of Reconciliation, the great tidal wave of monuments began shortly after the war with Union veterans going to the various battlefields and erecting markers – many small and some monumental in size – to their participation and valor in battle. And America’s Civil War battlefields are covered with these markers. Gettysburg alone now has 1,328 of them. By the 1880s, the effort to remember the valor and sacrifice of the soldiers had spread to the hometowns from which those soldiers came. Again, this phenomenon began in the North; but it quickly spread to the South, with southerners often noting their jealousy of the North or a sense of competition with the North.

The efforts of women across the country quickly caught up and surpassed the efforts of the veterans themselves, with the women of the North again taking the lead. The Daughters of Union Veterans was created in 1885, and the National Society of the Daughters of the Union began in 1912. The southern counterpart, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, started in 1894, but numbered only about half the participants of northern women’s groups. Again, there was a sense of rivalry.

The “Memorial Period” became almost a frenzy of activity, with thousands of statues being erected. At the courthouse or town square of small towns across the country, monuments went up, usually with inscriptions that sounded like “In Honor of the Men of (your town here) Who Served in the Great Civil War” or something similar. The statues on the top of the pedestals were often ordered from catalog companies, where you could specify the type of hat, whether bearded or clean shaven, carrying a musket or a sword, and looking up and alert or down in silent memorial. In the larger cities, the monuments were larger and more elaborate. Many of the statues were custom made by sculptors who would do a Yankee one month and a Rebel the next. And many of them were monumental in size, much larger than anything in Richmond. The largest in the country is in downtown Indianapolis, erected in 1902 and 285 feet high, more than three times as large as Richmond’s biggest, the 90-foot-high Confederate pyramid in Hollywood Cemetery. The 60-foot-high monument in Richmond of Robert E. Lee, dedicated in 1890, was dwarfed a year later in Chicago with a 100-foot-tall monument to Grant and the 165-foot-tall Grant’s Tomb in New York in 1897. And all were much smaller than the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C., which was done in the same period—begun in 1914 and completed in 1922.

Despite the competition, the South could never keep up, as there are more than twice as many markers, monuments, and statues in the North today than there are in the South.

Counting monuments is a little tricky, because statues are clearly in the count, but how about other markers? The Southern Poverty Law Center has tried to count those in the South; but they include statues, schools, buildings, streets, license plates, dams, even a fire department that are all named after Confederates. Their count of Confederate markers comes to 1,728 in the entire country, with 223 in Virginia, only 95 of which are recorded as monuments. In contrast, counting only monuments and statues, websites for New York State claim 280 Civil War statues and monuments and Ohio sites claim 269.

“More of the story” would seem to indicate that most of the Confederate monuments fit into history better as part of a national narrative called the “Memorial Period,” during which the entire nation mourned the death of the 750,000 men who died and memorialized the sacrifices of the three million who served for causes which most of them believed were just. To single out the Confederate statues and attribute them wholly and only to the Jim Crow or Lost Cause era seems to me to tell only part of the complicated story of American history. As we contemplate the monuments to Confederates, we deserve to know more of the story.

"I loved the old government in 1861. I love the old Constitution yet.
I think it is the best government in the world,
if administered as it was before the war.
I do not hate it; I am opposing now only the radical revolutionists who are trying to destroy it.
I believe that party to be composed, as I know it is in Tennessee, of the worst men on God's earth - men who would hesitate at no crime, and who have only one object in view - to enrich themselves."

McDONOUGH — Recent comments from a member of the Henry County Board of Commissioners concerning Nash Farm angered several Civil War re-enactors and researchers.

After Tuesday’s BOC meeting, District 5 Commissioner Bruce Holmes told the Herald that the story of Nash Farm being a Civil War battlefield was a “myth” and a “fraud” when explaining his opposition to the use of simulated rounds at a Civil War re-enactment later this month.

On Tuesday evening and Wednesday afternoon, the Herald heard from Tim Culbreth and Tony Pilgrim of the Charles T. Zachry Camp of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. Both were angered by Holmes’ comments and provided research that refuted those claims.

In an email on Tuesday evening, Pilgrim said that Holmes was not truthful when disputing Nash Farm’s status as a Civil War battlefield.

“Henry County District 5 Commissioner Bruce Holmes has proven himself to be a liar,” Pilgrim wrote. “He knows it. His colleagues know it as well.”

Pilgrim provided a number of points that he stated proved his case that a battle took place on Nash Farm in 1864, including a claim from Thompson Nash, the farm’s owner, the book “Sherman’s Horsemen” by Dr. David Evans, a book that Pilgrim said “describes in detail what happened during Kilpatrick’s Raid through Nash Farm and Henry County”

This research, performed by Mark Pollard, the county’s Civil War historian, features a number

Program resurveyed the engagement area.

“The resurvey also found that the battlefield’s boundaries needed to be expanded to include the fighting in and around Nash Farm and Walnut Creek in Henry County,” the letter reads.

That letter stated the ABPP believed the area should have been studied for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places.

The battle was not a lengthy one, as 10 companies of Gen. Judson Kilpatrick’s Union Cavalry charged a handful of Texas cavalry companies at Nash Farm at 2 p.m. on Aug. 20, 1864. The Texan forces were outnumbered — Pollard said by a 10 to one ratio.

On Friday, Pollard said the events of Aug. 20, 1864 were significant as they set a chain of events into motion. Kilpatrick’s Union Cavalry had destroyed rail lines heading down through Lovejoy, as part of Gen. William T. Sherman’s effort to cut off Atlanta, but the rails were quickly repaired within 24 hours.

“He knew his cavalry could not and would not successfully cut the railroad line,” Pollard said. “So he sent his infantry in... to Jonesboro to break up the line.”

Pollard said that had the Union forces been captured at Nash Farm like had happened with a nearby raid around Newnan, Atlanta might not have fallen. Pollard said U.S. President Abraham Lincoln needed Atlanta to fall in order to secure re-election. Other rail lines leading to Atlanta had been cut, but the rail line from Savannah and Macon, which led through Lovejoy, still stood.

“Sherman changed his battle plans for the rest of the Atlanta campaign. I’m going to send my foot soldiers to do what my cavalry couldn’t.”

The rail line ended up getting cut in Jonesboro, rather than Lovejoy, which led to the Battle of Jonesborough, one of the main battles of the Atlanta campaign, a battle which took several thousand lives.

“If they had successfully cut the railroad line at Lovejoy and defeated the Confederates, there wouldn’t have been a Battle of Jonesborough,” Pollard said. “But if they had been captured, Lincoln might not have been re-elected.”

In 2011, a letter from the United States Department of Interior to Nash Farm Battlefield stated, “The Federal defeat at Lovejoy Station would greatly affect the rest of the Atlanta Campaign. Though Kilpatrick’s forces were able to escape the Confederate encirclement at Nash Farm, their inability to significantly damage the vital Southern railroads forced U.S. Maj. Gen. William T. Sherman to use his infantry to destroy the rail lines feeding the Confederate garrison at Atlanta. This maneuver would ultimately be successful and force Confederate Gen. John B. Hood to abandon Atlanta in order to save his army.”

Several years later, in 1871, Thompson Nash, who owned the property, filed a claim with the Southern Claims Commission, arguing the Union armies had used the property and taken supplies from the property.

In his email Tuesday evening, Pilgrim said the Nash claim was the primary source of evidence proving that Nash Farm had been the site of a battle in 1864.

This is not the first time that Nash Farm’s status as a Civil War battlefield has been questioned and defended. In 2017, a museum on the Nash Farm site was closed after Commissioner Dee Clemmons reportedly requested that Confederate flags be removed from the museum. Clemmons and Holmes have both stated that no battle took place in the Nash Farm area. On Tuesday, Holmes stated that any activity that took place was a “skirmish” rather than a full-fledged battle.

However, according to the Lamar Institute, a nonprofit organization that conducts archaeological and historical research in the Southeastern United States, Nash Farm is the site of Kilpatrick’s Raid, a “massive cavalry action in Georgia and one of the most memorable in the entire Civil War.”

At least two archaeological digs were conducted on the property, including one by Lamar Institute. During those digs, some 3,000 artifacts, including bullets, coins, jewelry, clothing, personal weapons, kitchen items, horse equipment and musical instruments, were discovered.

The Lamar Institute had been retained by the Henry County government in 2007 to examine the battlefield property. That research was supported by Pollard’s findings, which were separate from Lamar’s 2007 research.
A Confederate Sailor

Absalom Williams Confederate Service, Death and Burial, CSS H.L. Hunley Service:

Service records for Absalom Williams indicate that he enlisted in the Confederate Army on May 16, 1862 in Newberry, SC where he was born. He was a private in the 25th SCV Company H which was stationed around Charleston, SC. According to his service records, he was transferred to a gunboat (believed to be the CSS Palmetto State) by orders of General G.T. Beauregard on October 23, 1862. On April 16th, 1863 he was transferred back from the gunboat to the 25th SCV Co. H. Absalom Williams was again transferred back to the gunboat (CSS Palmetto State) on April 25, 1863. On August 12th the CSS Hunley arrived in Charleston, SC after being transported by rail from Mobile, Alabama. The CSS Hunley was initially manned by non-military personnel employed by the owner in quest of a $100,000 bounty offered for sinking the blockading ship the USS Ironsides. After 12 days, the local military forces became impatient with the lack of offensive activity by the CSS Hunley and seized the vessel. By August 26, 1863, the CSS Hunley was staffed by Confederate Navy volunteers from the CSS Palmetto State and CSS Chippora, including Absalom Williams. On August 29, 1863, after having dived and surfaced several times around the harbor, Lt John Payne who now commanded the CSS Hunley, ordered the crew to make for the docks at Ft Johnson in Charleston Harbor. As the submarine approached the dock, she submerged suddenly with the hatches open plunging 40 feet to the bottom. Lt Payne and three others escaped the sinking vessel. Absalom Williams and four other crew members drowned. Lt Charles Hasker, who was one of the survivors, later wrote that the sinking was due to Lt Payne inadvertently stepping on the lever that controlled the fins while climbing through the manhole resulting in the submarine diving as it approached the dock. Lt Payne had planned for the CSS Hunley to make an evening attack on the Union blockade that same fateful day. The Confederate compiled service records for Absalom Williams end after April 1863, corroborating his death on 8/29/1863. In the Confederate Service Record card catalogue at the SC state archives in Columbia, SC the following notation was made for Absalom Williams: "Transferred to torpedo boat and lost in attempt to blow up USS Ironsides". This is clearly a link to Absalom’s service on the CSS Hunley. The CSS Hunley was raised from the bottom of the harbor and the bodies of Absalom Williams and his fellow crew members were recovered from the submarine. They were hastily buried together in the Mariner’s Cemetery in Charleston. In 1999, the remains of Absalom Williams and his crew members were uncovered during construction at Johnson Hagood Stadium. The crew members were reinterred in May 2000 at Magnolia Cemetery in Charleston, SC with full military honors.

Sam Davis was a Private in the Army of the Confederate States of America. He was a uniformed courier, riding on a mission when he came upon some riders dressed in Confederate uniforms. They were yankees and captured Sam without a shot being fired.

He was charged with being a “spy”, offered his freedom and a horse [the yankees had stolen the horse he was riding on] if he would tell all he knew about his fellow soldiers and officers.

Sam refused: “If I had a thousand lives I would lose them all before I would betray the trust of a friend or the confidence of an informer.”

Sam was hung November 27, 1863 by order of yankee Gen. Grenville Dodge based on lies and misapplication of military law similar to what we still see today practiced by politicians. As king Solomon proclaimed, “There is nothing new under the sun.”

Sam did have the privilege of the company of U.S. Chaplain James Young, as he confessed his salvation by Jesus Christ, and they both sang Sam’s favorite hymn “On Jordan’s Stormy Banks.”

If it has not been removed by socialists, there is a statue of Sam in Nashville, TN at the Capitol.

General Lee’s Favorite Get Away

By Larry Upthegrove

June 29, 1869: From Atlanta, today’s ”Constitution” has this good news from Virginia: “The Montgomery White Sulphur Springs, will be open the 1’st of June next. Before the War this was the most popular watering place in Virginia. Its situation in Southwestern Virginia on the Eastern slope of the Alleghenies, gives it beautiful scenery, a healthful climate, and a pure bracing air. Messrs. Wilson & Lorentz, two enterprising Virginians, have leased it for a term of five years, have thoroughly repaired, newly furnished, and will open it on a scale surpassing its former grandeur. Visitors to this place travel the entire distance by rail, getting off at Big Tunnel Station, on the Springs Branch R.R. New baths, billiard and bowling saloons, have been erected for the comfort and amusement of visitors. Post office, Telegraph, Express and Ticket-office are on the premises. Daily lines of stage will run through the wildest scenery in Virginia. Travelers between points North and South will find this a most delightful resting place. The fare has been reduced to the moderate price of $3 per day, $20 per week, and $70 per month, giving the privileges of special rates to larger parties for longer time.”

The program for the February 6 (2020) regular meeting of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, TRR Cobb Camp #97, will be provided by the above historian.

As a public service effort, Camp #97 will move graves of five unknown Confederate soldiers who died enroute to hospitals while their trains were stopped at the Winterville train station. These soldiers were hastily buried in a nearby field, now located near the Winterville Methodist Church. Mr. Gresham will advise the Church and Camp #97 in removing and reinterring the remains of the soldiers to a suitable location in the Winterville City Cemetery. In his career as an archaeologist Mr. Gresham has located over 500 cemeteries and delineated over 40. In 1991 he was involved in Georgia legislation that guided how relocation of most cemeteries and graves would be handled in the future. Mr. Gresham will briefly review how archaeologists dealt with burials before and after the 1991 laws were passed, and will discuss the added requirements to consult with the descendants of the deceased and to have archaeologists involved in the exhumations. He will describe a case study of moving a family cemetery and will discuss the planned removal and reinternment of the five Confederate soldiers.

The meeting is open to the public. This presentation is part of the Sons Confederate Veterans Camp #97 monthly series of historical talks about the South, the War Between the States, the Confederacy, and other historical aspects of the era, and is provided as a public service. The talks are presented by authors, historians, and researchers. The meeting is held at 7:00 pm, first Thursday of each month, at the Oconee County Veterans’ Memorial Park Senior Center Auditorium, 3500 Hog Mountain Rd (GA 53), Watkinsville, GA 30677. Refreshments are served afterwards.

Mr. J.B. “Angelo” Crowe lives on his family farm in Wheeler County as his family has done since the mid-19th century. Mr. Crowe is a life member of the Sons of Confederate Veterans Camp #2164. The Harrelson family cemetery is located on the property and contains 6 generations of his family. There are veterans from the War Between the States, WW I, WW II, and Korea.

Mr. Crowe recently put up a sign to honor his Great grandfather Henry H. Harrelson who was a Private soldier in the 4th Georgia Cav-alry during the War Between the States.

The family cemetery is clearly visible from the sign. The sign and cemetery are located on the Jefferson Davis Memorial Highway just north of Little Ocmulgee State Park. As anyone can see, the Harrelson family has protected this country and State from enemies both foreign and domestic since long before there was a Wheeler County.

We Lay the Wreaths
By: George Ray Houston

The flowers and garlands with a moment’s pause Rendered in prayer their Holy cause,

Upon the foot of the monument we lay to rest,
The final chapter; they gave their best,
Upon the fields of battle in fallen death
All are gone; none are left.

The bodies of valor beneath the stone
Their heroic death, all alone,
Enemy invaders we deplore;

Unwelcome presence for evermore
As we lay the wreaths for our fallen kin
For a war in which the foe would win.

Upon the battle fields and rivers the blood runs red,
We celebrate with reverence our Confederate dead.

The days of Lee and Stonewall united,
Their skills in battle ignited
Fire in the souls of the legions in gray
To end the Yankee invasion of the day
And upon the fields of destruction our heroes are laid,
The death of our kin from a federal raid,
Neglect of Yankee repentance,
The Confederate cause craving independence,
As our ancestors craved the independence chore
Far away from Britain’s shore.

Upon the grave sites of our soldiers in gray
Remembered with solemnity on this solemn day
As we place the wreaths with special care
On monuments and graves everywhere.

We inherit today insults at home
And all the places we might roam,
Upon the fields of modern day
Enemies wish to take away
Our monuments and flags from yesterday
And we must stand upon our land
Stand and fight for what is right
We salute the flags our soldiers would hold
In high regard we ne’er must fold;
Yesteryear’s heroes who wore the gray
Fought Yankee invaders along the way,
Their honor we cherish; their bravery we crave,
Through their virtue and valor we salute the brave
As we lay the wreaths upon their grave.

“Obstacles may retard, but they cannot long prevent the progress of a movement sanctified by its justice, and sustained by a virtuous people.”

President Jefferson F. Davis, Confederate States of America

Men February is the start of a new year 2020 and I do hope all y’all had a Joyous Christmas and keeping up with all your New Year resolution.

I would like to see all of you please work hard on recruiting, each member bring us in (2) new recruits. Men with all the hate and lies being told by our enemies about the truth of our Blessed CONFEDERATE HERITAGE, and all the monuments being destroyed by our enemies we have got to stand strong, and a large membership helps.

It is a shame the local UDC ladies won’t repair the monument on the Courthouse square in Hartwell, but they say it belongs to them and UDC. I do wish the SCV could find a really nice place in Hartwell to erect a new Confederate monument to Honor the Brave men that left their homes and families to fight for what they believed in.

At our February meeting I have 2 books on the 37th Georgia and 9th Battalion I will bring and we will talk about your ancestors that served in this unit. We have several members that has Confederate ancestors that served in these units from Hart, Elbert, and Franklin counties. Y’all men please y’all get up and tell us a little family history on your kin from the 37th.

I do hope all of you and family are in good health, if y’all know any member or their family that is in bad health or need our prayers –Contact Me-Please.......... Cmdr Jud Barton
